

Originally our church had 2 entry doors; one for the men and one for the women. Divided pews separated the men from the women in the sanctuary.

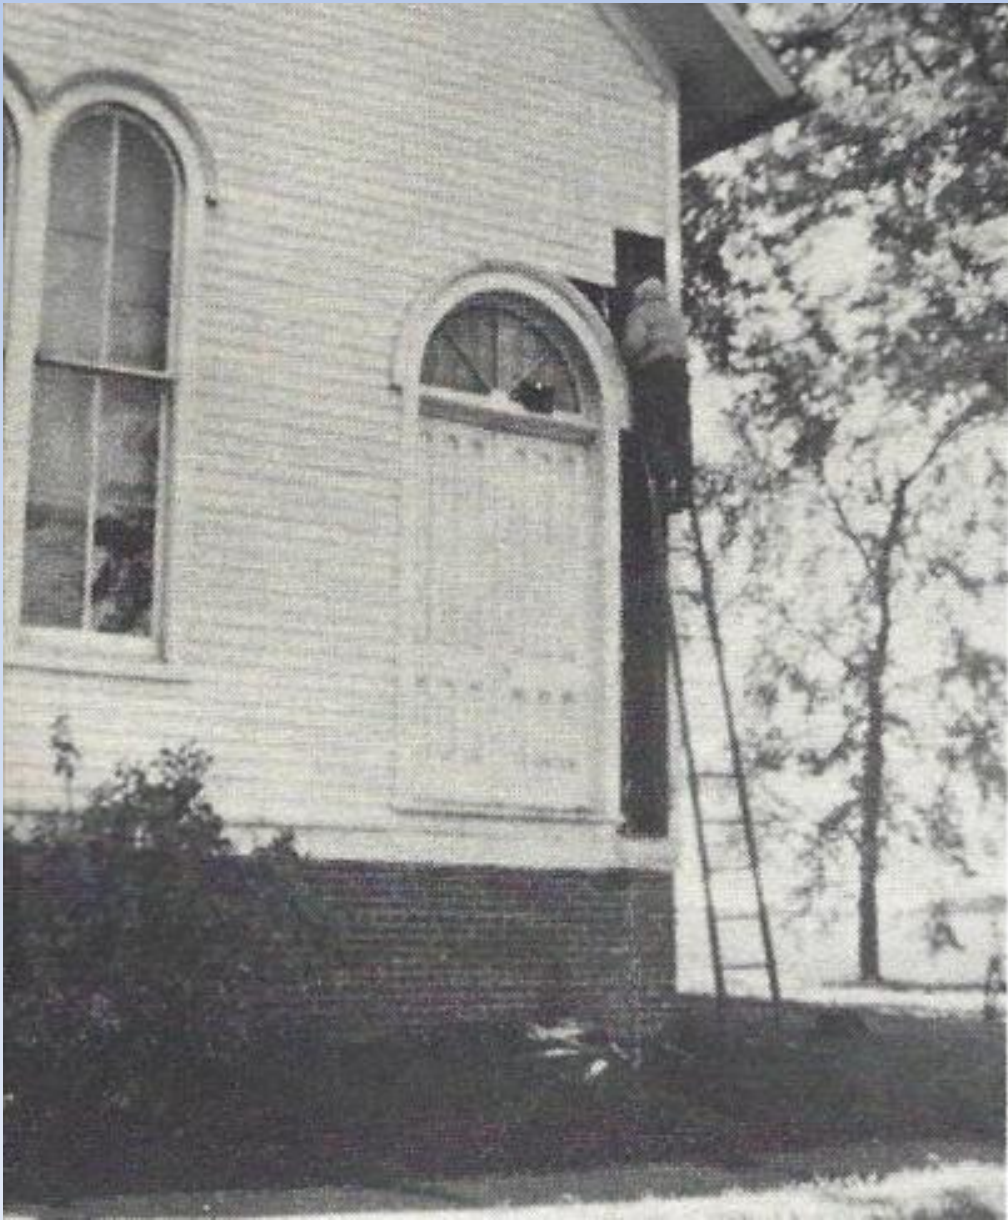

The 'North Entrance' was in continuous use until 1939

After the basement was added in 1939,
the 'north entrance' was still in place
but too high off the ground to use.

In 1949 bees had gotten behind the siding in the north and east walls. Several hundred pounds of honey was taken from the walls and new siding was installed to cover the old entrance.

Gathering Honey, 1949

Picture from 1955 with new siding covering the north entrance.

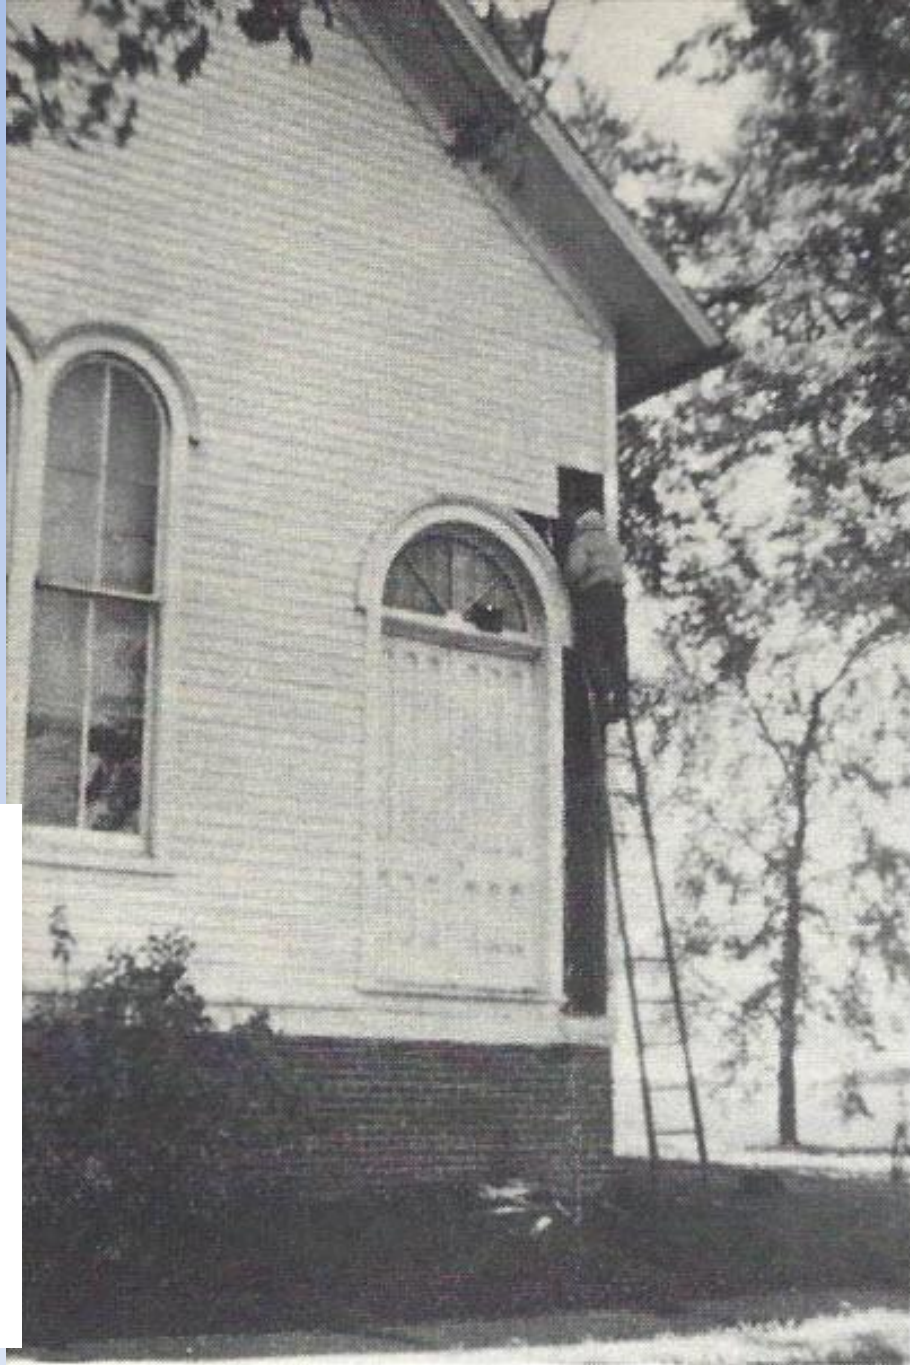

The last view of the old north entrance was in 1990 when this narthex was added on to the east entryway of the church.

The story of the old north church entrance at this spot

Use the camera
on your smart
phone to access
the link from this QR code and learn
more:

Gathering Honey, 1949

The story of the old north church entrance at this spot

Use the camera
on your smart
phone to access
the link from this QR code and learn
more:

Gathering Honey, 1949